About the Jewish Historical Society of Delaware

The Jewish Historical Society of Delaware was founded in 1974 and incorporated in 1975 for the purpose of collecting, documenting, and preserving materials relating to the Delaware Jewish Community, its institutions and its population.

Housed in the Research Library building of the Historical Society of Delaware, the Archives of the Jewish Historical Society of Delaware is a vast resource that is used by students, family historians, community agencies, and other interested persons. We are open by appointment only, although the staff of the Historical Society of Delaware may retrieve larger collections. A newsletter is published twice a year to inform our members and the community of our activities. The newsletter also lists new items received and collections that are newly processed.

The Jewish Historical Society welcomes all inquiries from interested persons in Delaware, around the country, and across the globe. We invite you to use our resources. For further information call our Archivist Gail M. Pietrzyk at (302) 655-6232.

About this Guide

This booklet, A Guide To The Archives, has been designed to assist the researcher in accessing records, documents, photographs, and memorabilia in our various collections.

The Jewish Historical Society of Delaware archives is open to all who are interested in learning about the history of the Delaware Jewish Community. Academic researchers, writers, and family historians will find a wealth of diverse data among the 300 plus linear feet of material.

A listing of each collection topic featured in the Jewish Historical Society of Delaware archives is followed by a very brief description of the organization. These topics include synagogues and temples, local organizations, Jewish businesses and family & individual files.

The Jewish Historical Society of Delaware collects and preserves materials related to the history and activities of the Delaware Jewish Community and the Jewish population of Delaware. Records of interest include papers, documents, photographs, ephemera, memorabilia, & museum items. The Society also maintains a small, but growing collection of books and journals for reference use as well as a growing genealogy book and reference collection.

Collections within the Archives are organized by institution name, organization name, by family name, or by subject. Examples include the following:

- Institution: Beth Shalom Congregation
Albert Einstein Academy
Jewish Community Center
- Organization Name: Hadassah
B'nai B'rith
Jewish Community Relations Council
- Family Name: Ableman Family
Topkis Family
- Subject: Holocaust
Cemeteries

To access materials in the archives, an appointment must be made with the archivist. In addition to this guide, there is a Card Catalog and numerous Container Lists that should be searched when accessing material in the archives.
