Dear Mollye,

Knowing how very busy you are with all your letters to the boys from the "home town", I felt quite flattered and pleased to get your letter. If my address changes I certainly will drop you a line.

Doris Blatman wrote me and I just answered her this morning. That was Artie Blatman you referred to, I presume, and you must have been very glad to see him. I can understand. As for remembering all of you in Wilmington, you ~~to~~ know that I will always consider it as my second home town. You were all grand to me. I hope the men stationed there now learn to appreciate the time & effort you and Mr Sellood and the many others put in to make their army careers more liveable. I have wondered very often how all my friends are, yet I cannot find time to write much so I hope the "Recorder" will bring me up-to-date in time.

It was swell of you to write, but then that is a "Mollye" trait, isn't it? Regards to all. Thank you for the letter. Sincerely, St. Holiver
